Note

Call for information and add that in the present state of the finance it is desirable that all Heads of Departments should abstain from recommending increases to Establishments or to other grants not absolutely required,— and sanction should be asked only for such charges as are quite unavoidable.

If Dewan approves of my suggestion, a general circular may be issued to all Heads of Departments.

Sl. 2/10/99

I am directed to say that the question of the present state of the finances of the State is a matter which Govt. would like to be considered by the Heads of Depts. and Government should refrain from recommending increases or establishments or the grants under other heads not absolutely required, sanction being solicited only for such charges as are unavoidable. The proposals in which increased expenditure

are carefully scrutinized
on the above principle
before submission to Govt. much needless correspondence would be obviated

No. 2196-2235—Fl. 235, dated Bangalore, 11th September 1899.

Order.—The Government wish to point out that in the present state of the finances of the State it is desirable that Heads of Departments and Deputy Commissioners should abstain from recommending increases to establishments or to the grants under other heads not absolutely required, sanction being solicited only for such charges as are quite unavoidable. If proposals involving increased expenditure are carefully scrutinized on the above principle before submission to Government, much needless correspondence would be obviated.
